Privileged? Information
Dear All.
A review has been conducted in respect of commercially sensitive and/or legally privileged information, in particular with the management and exchange of information subject to the Second Sight review. Whilst most information within this group will be legal privileged, none the less, if the information was to inadvertently be sent to the wrong email address or intercepted innocently or otherwise, once out in the public domain it will be hard to control.
Having agreed with Susan Crichton, with immediate effect, all information should where possible be placed onto a document and access is through a password protocol. The procedure is easy to use and only takes a matter of seconds.
For matters relating to the Second Sight review, the password is the one that has previously been issued two weeks ago. For general or BAU investigation communications, the existing password issued to Post Office Legal, Post Office Security and Cartwright Kings is to be used.
Additionally commercially sensitive and/or legally privileged information should not be copied/pasted onto unprotected email text to make it more easily readable on a Blackberry.
Any queries or if you require clarification on the passwords previously issued or how to create a password document, then please give me a call.
Regards.
John.
