Mark

I hope I find you well.

Could I ask you to please review the mail string, below?

Outlet is Lepton, FAD 191320. ARQ 219/1213 refers; additional investigation estimated at maximum 1 day.

Are you in agreement for this work to be set against PO 4500 517 017?

Kind regards
Penny

Penny,

Please can you advise how this can be formalised? I'm booking the time spent to the Expert Witness code that you have some cover for, so that may be sufficient until that runs out.

Gareth,

Thank you I appreciate your help. I thought we had already asked for formal help on this case but if this is not the case then I do wish to process such a request - could you advise of the process for doing this please? I absolutely need to be able to articulate what's happened here so given that you are probably the person that can help formally I look forward to our future correspondence.

Thanks,
Angela

Angela,

A few clarifications below prefixed [GI], but it doesn't cover everything you are asking.

Please note that this is all outside of our official remit. I probably shouldn't be doing this investigation for you in this way. (Though if you ask for formal help, it is likely to be me who gets involved!)

Subject: RE: transaction log

Gareth,

Thanks for looking at this but this doesn't give me a complete explanation. What we don't have visibility of is the session in between the transaction and the reversal 537804 - can we see what went through the system against this number?

[GIJ] There was no such transaction. Session IDs do have gaps in them occasionally. When we get the raw logs we will be able to show that number 537804 corresponded to the Log On request.

Also isn't there a log somewhere of what did actually fail - so if a break in Comms link isn't this recorded somewhere?

[GIJ] This was certainly recorded at the counter at the time. However such logs are deleted after 28 days, so are of no help to us now. There may also be Events written to system Logs at the time. These are normally retrieved at the time an ARQ is done, but they are not normally passed on to POL. I can't be certain if they will show anything or not but there is no harm in looking. They would also show whether or not the Counter was rebooted (which I suspect it was).

Penny: Please can you also save the all the Event Files when you process this ARQ (same one as I mentioned yesterday - details at end of email trail)

The Spmr is convinced that there is a problem with Horizon as he completed the transaction at the time and other than the system not printing a receipt for the customer he believed all was well with the transaction until several weeks later he learnt the customer's phone had been cut off for non-payment.

[GIJ] Not printing the receipt should have been an indication that something was wrong. As far as horizon is concerned a Basket is not completed until all the receipts have been printed. (This could be a genuine mistake due to lack of training or guidance, but it is not a fault with Horizon.) He also must have noticed that he needed to Log On before carrying out any further transactions and a Recovery receipt should have been printed at that point. The Events show that this was printed successfully.

The Spmr did not show a corresponding surplus on the day of the reversal which he should have as he had taken the money but the bill wasn't subsequently processed. We need to be able to explain exactly what's happened here and at the moment I'm unable to do this. Can you help me with this explanation? If not could you suggest someone who can.

[GIJ] He could have seen the recovery receipt telling him about a Cash Refund for £76.09 and taken the money, but I would have expected him to remember that!

That is the best I can do without the full evidence. I don't think anybody else is going to be able to provide a better explanation.

Thanks for your help.

Helen,

Attached are the transactions and events for 4th October 2012 from 09:30 to 09:40 GMT (ie 10:30 to 10:40 BST).

This shows that Session 537803 was successfully saved to the BRDB, but when the user JAR001 Logged On again Recovery reversed the session in session 537805.

It isn't clear what failed, but if it was a comms error, then the system would have printed a disconnected session receipt and the Clerk should have given the customer £80 and told him his Bill was unpaid. The fact that there is no indication of such a receipt in the events table suggests the counter may have been rebooted and so perhaps may have crashed in which case the clerk may not have been told exactly what to do.

The reversal was due to recovery (Counter Mode Id = 118) so this was not an explicit reversal by the clerk.

This scenario is fairly rare so it is certainly quite easy for the clerk to have made a mistake and either he or the customer could be in pocket / out of pocket (depending on exactly what happened!).

The system is behaving as it should.

Helen,

Can you give me a more precise Date and Time (say with 10 mins) for the problem? I can look at data up to 6 months old and October 2012 is within that 6 month window. (I don't want to try and trawl through a month's worth of data!)

Thanks Gareth, that sounds great.

From the credence data it just looks like an AP transaction and 5 minutes later a reversal, however the banking withdrawal went through for £80 and was debited from the customers account. PMR did a banking withdrawal rather than payment by debit card. From the data I can see, I would have just said that this was a reversal at the counter,

He denies transacting the reversal and has involved a forensic accountant to prove horizon fault.

I would have expected the office to be £76 up due to the reversal but it wasn't. (Customer was give the change for £3.61 for the difference from the withdrawal and the BT bill)

Helen,

I've tracked it down and it has been received here but not processed. I've asked if the raw lag can be returned as well as the normal stuff so that I can confirm exactly what happened.

If you can show what you need from the normal extract then fine. If not I can probably help you find the info in the raw log.

Hi

Could I please order the fujitsu transaction log for Lepton 191320 for 4th October 2012 to 25th October 2012. (please let me know if these dates fall outside one disc)

Could we please request that all session numbers are included not just sales and transactions - including any reason for those not showing in sales, i.e. background comments, error messages, receipt printed or receipt not printed etc

POS, could you please let me know roughly the timescales on ordering these (as you know it's a long time since I needed one).

Many thanks
